I want golfers of all abilities to look at every hole I design and think, 'I have to play that hole!'

Delight yourself in the Lord and He will grant you the desires of your heart.

“A golf course should think for the player.”

- DeWitt Weaver

DESIGN PHILOSOPHY

DeWitt has always believed in making golf fun and exciting for all ages and abilities. This has carried over into his golf course design philosophy.

“I believe a golf course should think for the player. A player should be able to use feel to picture shots with his or her imagination and not get caught up in guessing what the hole does or where the hole goes. I want golfers to stand on any one of my tees and get a rush of exhilaration in picturing where they are going to hit the ball.”

DeWitt believes golfers are drawn to courses with character and courses that allow the player to use his or her imagination as well as ability.

“They’re not always going to hit the shot they’re picturing, but I guarantee they’ll have fun imagining it. Every player wants the feeling of making that one great shot. I am a true believer that spectacular golf holes allow you to picture and ultimately hit spectacular golf shots.”

DEWITT WEAVER

DeWitt joined the PGA Tour in 1964 and won the 1971 Liggett & Myers Open Match Play Championship and the 1972 Southern Open.

He is a seven-time Georgia PGA Champion and a four-time Georgia Open Winner. He was twice named Georgia PGA Player of the Year and was inducted into the Georgia Golf Hall of Fame in 1997.

DeWitt served as Touring Professional for the Sea Island Golf Club on St. Simons Island and then as Head Professional for Sea Palms Golf Resort also on St. Simons. In the mid-80s he was Head Professional at Sky Valley Golf & Ski Resort and in 1986 DeWitt accepted a job as Director of Golf at Innsbruck Golf Club in Helen, Georgia.

He has spent the last nine years representing Château Élan in Braselton, Georgia on the Senior PGA Tour. 2002 marks DeWitt’s thirteenth season on the Senior PGA Tour. In his career on the Senior Tour, DeWitt has had close to fifty top-ten finishes including a win at the 1991 Bank One Championship in Lexington, Kentucky.

“DeWitt knows what a good golf course is or should be, and he knows what makes for good design strategy.”

-Jack Nicklaus

NICKLAUS DESIGN

Nicklaus Design, the privately owned golf course design company of golf legend Jack Nicklaus and the Nicklaus family, will provide DeWitt Weaver Design with staff, field support, and technical support required to complete the conceptual and planning documents necessary to design a golf course. The technical support will include all computer-aided design work related to routings, strategy plans, layouts and feature details, and technical specifications. The venture’s designs will be branded, marketed and promoted independently of Nicklaus Design, using the name, image, design strategy, and endorsement of DeWitt Weaver.

Jack Nicklaus had this to say about the design agreement, “DeWitt and I have been friends for a long time and I am looking forward to that relationship carrying over into business. We at Nicklaus Design are appreciative of the opportunity to work with DeWitt and his family, and we are eager to support them as they embark in the golf course design business.”
