Further comments about presenters:

This workshop was worth so much to me as an elementary school counsellor.
I knew quite a bit already so the pace of the workshop was perfect for me.
The materials shared are awesome. Thank you so much. Serging
Print - outs bigger print needed; good to have jokes; research studies, not so helpful

Easy to listen to / knowledgeable / humorous / great pace/ enthusiastic about topic / Canadian examples
Clear and knowledgeable with humour - great speaker

Very knowledgeable about his topic and an engaging speaker. This topic really requires more time since there was more in the handout than what could be covered. I greatly appreciate the handout!

Very accessible during breaks. Clear with good examples. Listened well to comments and questions but did not get side tracked

Presenter was knowledgeable, clear, funny, and clarifying

Great presenter. On topic. Answered questions in a professional manner.

HE was very clear and moved at a good pace. I thought he was great.

Excellent - exactly what I needed! Would happily have stayed the whole day to continue learning more on this subject.

One of the best and most useful workshops I attended in the past few years. It makes me want to take the course at UBC

The pace was a little fast - not much time for questions or comments during the presentation. Dr.McIntosh did a good job of covering the material considering the time restraints.

I hope to see Dr. K.McIntosh doing a similar wk. in BBy. I'll definately reccomend him for one of our Pro.D.Day.

Excellent presentation, one of the best I have attended to, in many years.

Kent was interesting and informative.

Further comments about the workshop facilities:

Too cold but otherwise good

As with all such venues, the seating was somewhat uncomfortable.

Excellent location

Too cold!! Air conditioning was blowing on me the whole time.

Was perfect for this size group

No problems - convenient

Great location. Good room space. Thanks for the tea! Everyone always forgets about the tea!

They were located in an area easy to find.

I will encourage the CISVA to offer more on this subject.

Well done

The temperature was too cold.

What was the most important thing you gained from this workshop?

More precision on my Functional Assessments.
Reminders about the importance of situations
Information was presented in a very easy to understand way - lots of anecdotes that could be shared with staff - easy usable handouts
The handouts and a reminder that I must have a team to work on these plans.
Enough insight to want more
The basic summary statement and the functional assessment checklist. These I can utilize immediately to support my students.
Strategies to put into practise and real life examples
That behavioural problems need a closer look and a better plan to solve
Review of current knowledge

Being able to reflect on the work we've been doing and things/suggestions/ideas we can now try/implement.
Knowledge
An understanding of how to apply the FBA
A clear plan to deal with some current issues at my school. Just not sure I have the expertise to carry out the BSP.
Practical information and forms which can all be used immediately
Good examples of effective alternate behaviours.
An understanding of the FBA
New skills to use in the classroom
New ideas
More knowledge and useful resources
If you want to do it right - get together a good group of people.

Final comments or suggestions for other workshops or seminars that you would be interested in:

Would love to have Kent McIntosh do a follow-up to this session for those who are very familiar with the basics. Would likemore of what the last 10 minutes of the workshop addressed.
Speech-Language strategies for schools that can't access Speech-Language Pathologists.
My thank you to Jan Palmer for her immediate replies to my email.
It would be a good idea to have a follow-up seminar for this one. Perhaps with strategies for implementation. Also, separating elementary content from secondary content as it is vastly different in most scenarios. I felt most was geared toward elementary in this case. I noticed that a good few other attendees were wanting to share ideas and experiences. It would be good to have a round table type seminar where strategies and proven ideas could be shared based on this topic.
Would love to attend another seminar on this topic and work in teams to solve case studies. Did you post another date?

The workshop was great IF you were looking to find out WHAT & HOW to do an FBA - however the workshop was supposed to be on HOW to put together aPBS once you have an FBA - we only spent 50 mins out of 3 hrs on this and did not get to IEP goals - over 2 hrs spent on FBA - I would not have gone to the workshop and paid $50 = as I have already taken several trainings on FBAs - quite disppointing for a Saturday paid wkshp - be clearer on WHAT the workshop will be about - it affacts who will attend
Getting kids involved with peers that have special needs/learning issues.
I was very impressed by the workshop.
Thank you for making this available for teachers. I think all teachers should be able to use this material and should receive training in this area.
With many thanks for the well done presentation
