Pedorthics Specialty Added at Alabama Artificial Limb Company

Alabama Artificial Limb Company, Inc., a prosthetics firm located in Montgomery, Alabama has added professional pedorthic services at the request of several area physicians.

Glenn Crumpton, C.P.O., C.Ped., vice president of the company, responded to the physicians' requests and attended the pedorthics course at the Dr. William M. Scholl College of Podiatric Medicine located in Chicago, Illinois. (Pedorthics is the design, manufacture, fit and/or modification of shoes and foot orthoses to alleviate foot problems caused by disease, overuse or injury.) He successfully earned his certification in pedorthics earlier this year and immediately began the preliminary planning to provide pedorthic services at the company's two Montgomery locations.

"We felt that it was important to provide the medical community we serve with the same high level of quality for pedorthics as they have become accustomed to with our prosthetics," said Crumpton. "Together, Alabama Artificial Limb Company and Orthopedic Service Company can now offer the Montgomery area a full-range of prosthetic, orthotic and pedorthic services as a combined services facility."

Alabama Artificial Limb Company, Inc. and Orthopedic Service Company, Inc. have recently joined to become a combined services facility. The main office is located at 1223 East South Boulevard near Baptist Medical Center South, with a new second location at 495 St. Luke's Drive near Baptist Medical Center East.
