Advanced Supervision: Adding new tools to your Imago Tool Box and Deepening your own Imago work, personally and professionally.

Do you want to take the next step on your Imago Journey? Are you interested in deepening your understanding of theory and practice? Do you want to add some more tools to your tool box? If you said yes to these questions, you will want to join Maya Kollman as she co-creates with you an environment where it is safe to play and experiment with new ideas and an expanded understanding of Imago theory and practice. The course will include conversations about new theoretical material, demos and practice. Richness and immediacy will be added by the curious investigation of actual taped therapy sessions brought by both the participants and Maya—Imago in Action!!! Although tapes are not required, PLEASE bring your work for us to see. The best learning occurs when we can watch each other's therapeutic craft and brain storm about how to become even more effective in helping couples create lasting and nourishing relationships.

Advanced couples workshop for Certified Imago Therapists

Who should attend this workshop?

We can feel fraudulent as Imago therapists when we cannot create lasting repairs for our own relationship ruptures. In this advanced couples workshop you and your partner will look deeply at the root of your own resistance to change and how to handle the anxiety that comes with any growth challenge. Using writing, dialogue, guided imagery, and movement you will add tools to your toolbox as well as find ways to be present in your body, mind and spirit. This workshop is designed for those who are committed to their own growth and willing to answer the question, "What does this relationship need from me?" Come and join Maya for this amazingly rich experience.

If you are single, you can still participate to this workshop together with a friend.
