

Resource Listings

---

A to Z Home's Cool

<http://www.gomilpitas.com/homeschooling/>

This is a very extensive website created by homeschooling mom, Ann Zeise. It is jam-packed with resources for parents, kids, and teens.

---

Eclectic Homeschool Online

<http://eho.org/directory/>

This site contains a list of any and all commercial sources of materials; an extensive list of companies that might be of interest to homeschoolers. You can also find a lengthy set of noncommercial educational sites as well as many articles that are especially helpful to new homeschoolers.

---

Family Unschoolers Network FUNBooks

<http://www.fun-books.com/navigate.htm>

Selective catalog of books for learning many subjects from arts and crafts to world history, foreign language, math, science and much more. Emphasis on materials for unschoolers.

---

Finding Homeschool Support on the Internet

<http://www.geocities.com/Athens/8259/index.html>

Look down the left-side menu for various resource options including: curriculum, software, reference materials, unit studies, online courses, satellite and correspondence schools, low-cost vendors, used curriculum sites, and more.

---

Growing Without Schooling John Holt's Bookstore

Started by John Holt, the father of the unschooling movement, books about learning and many other materials are offered, especially good for resources ideally suited to the independent learner.

The magazine has ceased publication. Back issues are still available from FUN Books, toll free phone (888) 386-7020 or email FUN@FUN-Books.com.

GWS continues to maintain their website and speak and write on John Holt and homeschooling.

info@holtgws.com

www.holtgws.com

2380 Massachusetts Ave.

Suite104

Cambridge MA 02140

617-864-3100

---

---

Home Education Magazine's Website

<http://www.home-ed-magazine.com>

Email information files, books, catalogs, software, online resources, curriculum, correspondence programs, homeschooling books, and much more.

---

---

Home Education and Family Services Online Catalog Store

<http://www.homeeducator.com/HEFS/catalog/>

Hundreds of carefully chosen titles from the best and most creative publishers of educational resources today. Many have been specially designed for homeschool use and the tutorial method. Includes helpful descriptions of each product.

---

---

Home Educator's Resource Network Recommended Curriculum & Resources

<http://www.homeeducator.com/FamilyTimes/resource.htm>

From Family Times Magazine, these organizations are selected because they represent excellence in education and assistance to homeschooling families, providing some of the best resources and services available today. It's a great place to start a homeschool curriculum search.

---

---

HomeSchool Association of California

<http://www.hsc.org>

This is a good source of some outstanding homeschooling books.

---

---

Homeschool Central

<http://homeschoolcentralmall.com/>

The Homeschool Mall Central is an extensive listing of businesses that sell materials to homeschoolers. It includes: full curriculum, study resources, software, videos.

<http://homeschoolcentral.com/study.htm>

The Homeschool Study Resources page contains many links that take you to other sites on the web where you can find information on many topics, such as: museums, music, physical education, preschool resources, social studies, art, geography, government, science, Bible, special needs, economics, history, language arts, unit studies, foreign languages, mathematics, study resources, and more.

---

The Homeschool Zone: Home-Ed Help

<http://www.homeschoolzone.com/hshelp.htm>

Lots of material here, including: articles, book reviews, author interviews, specialized email lists for homeschoolers, links to book and curriculum sellers, independent study program information, and much more.

---

Homeschool.com: Your Virtual Homeschool

<http://www.homeschool.com>

Online classes, advice from America's leading homeschooling experts and the support of fellow Homeschoolers from across the street or across the country. Message boards, articles, resource lists, FAQs, and much more. Click on "Resource Guide" for listings of: curriculum, online learning, reading and writing, science, mathematics, gifted and special needs, independent study programs, college resources, educational games and toys, foreign language and ESL materials, children's magazines and books, and books and magazines about homeschooling.

---

Rainbow Resource Center

<http://www.rainbowresource.com>

A homeschooling family business, they offer thousands of items for sale online. They do an especially great job of describing the items in detail.

---

Education and Reference Gateways

---

Kathy Schrock's Guide for Educators

<http://school.discovery.com/schrockguide/index.html>

Kathy Schrock's Guide for Educators is a categorized list of sites useful for enhancing curriculum and professional growth. It is updated daily to include the best sites for teaching and learning.

---

---

Welcome to EdGate.com

<http://www.edgate.com>

This site has so many learning resources, so much information and interesting material, that it is impossible to describe. Have a look.

---

---

Halls of Academia

<http://www.tenet.edu/academia/main.html>

This is the place to go to find great websites for: careers, technology, early childhood, fine arts, geography, government, economics, history, home economics, interdisciplinary studies, language and literature, mathematics, multiculturalism, science, special populations, sports and physical fitness.

---

---

StudyWeb

<http://www.studyweb.com/>

Search their collection of over 121,000 quality websites.

---

---

KidsClick! Web Search

<http://sunsite.berkeley.edu/KidsClick!/>

A kids' search engine for: facts/current events, science/math, weird and mysterious, the arts, health and well-being, popular entertainment, machines and transportation, society and government, and much, much more.

---

---

BOBCAT

<http://www.ezlink.com/~edu/index.htm>

Education links, sorted by grade level.

---

---

LibrarySpot

<http://libraryspot.com/>

Encyclopedias, maps, libraries and more.

---

---

Refdesk

<http://www.refdesk.com/facts.html>

Facts - Information - Research

